

JOHN DALY (-13)

Q. Got to be happy with how things turned out considering the last couple events with the injury and everything?

JOHN DALY: Yeah, those last two really hurt. I was playing really, really good. I probably could have maybe finished a little bit better, who knows. But the good news is I had some great friends in Ontario, California, that got me the MRI as quick as possible and got the knee shot up with stem cell in the back and it feels really good. But I'll know in six weeks, full recovery, but that stem cell PRP is unbelievable, it really is.

Q. What do they anticipate now with the knee going forward for the next few weeks?

JOHN DALY: I mean, I'm off, so that's a good thing. Just let the white calcium and -- just let the stem cell just keep healing that arthritis in the knee. And then I had two bone spurs. When I was walking downhill, the spurs were hitting the arthritis, in the cartilage basically. The stem cells are going to get the cartilage stronger and hopefully it will be good for a long time.

Q. Do you think you would have played if it was still at Desert Mountain?

JOHN DALY: I don't know, maybe. I played Desert Mountain. It's a tough course to walk. It's a beautiful golf course, but yeah, I probably would have tried.

Q. And what did you think of this course? Is this your first time here or have you played here before?

JOHN DALY: First time here. I mean, I love old, traditional golf courses. I know this is one if you hit the fairways, you know you can score well on, and if you don't, you're not. It's that kind of risk-reward type of golf course where we don't play on -- the regular tour doesn't get to play golf courses like this as much as we do and I relish in it. There's so many great golf courses we play throughout the year on the PGA TOUR Champions. It's risk-reward. You can hit an iron off the tee and still score well, or you can hit the driver off the tee and score really, really well if you get it going.
