

BRONSON BURGOON (-21)

Q. Just overall thoughts on the week, T-2 looks like?

BRONSON BURGOON: Yeah, I played well. I played a lot better than what I shot today. I don't know what happened in my putting, but I just -- it was really bad. I mean, it was really, really bad. Today was by far the best ball-striking day without question. Until the last hole, honestly, I felt like I had zero drama and I just couldn't make an eight-foot putt.

Q. How important is it to start like this, T-2, get the season going?

BRONSON BURGOON: Yeah, it's really good. Obviously it's coming, so happy to see some results along with the process, so it's good.

Q. Will you be in the field next week?

BRONSON BURGOON: No, I'm going home. My wife's pregnant and I want to go home and hang with her.

Q. Okay. When's the kid due?

BRONSON BURGOON: First or second week of December.

Q. Is it the first child?

BRONSON BURGOON: Yeah.

Q. What's the thoughts on that right now?

BRONSON BURGOON: I'm excited, I can't wait. I've always wanted to be a dad. I don't think there's going to be anything better than being a dad, so really excited.

Q. Do you know if it's a boy or girl yet?

BRONSON BURGOON: We're waiting to find out.

Q. Got a name picked out?

BRONSON BURGOON: Yeah, probably Blake for a girl, Beckham for a boy.

Q. What do you think that will be like trying to juggle golf and being a dad?

BRONSON BURGOON: Honestly, I think it will be good for me. Golf's finally starting to take its place in my life. It was really hard for it to find its place, I made it everything, and now it's starting to take a backseat to a couple different things and starting to play a lot better.

Q. What was working for you so well this week?

BRONSON BURGOON: I hit it really well, I drove it extremely well. That's the key to this golf course is driving it well. Yeah, it was good.
