

RYAN ARMOUR (-10)

Q. Ryan, you really caught fire on the back nine there today, four in a row and another birdie there at the last to tie. What changed on the back today?

RYAN ARMOUR: You know, hit a really good 3-iron into 11 to about six feet and made it. Made a 40-footer on 12. You can never count on those, but all of a sudden I hit another one in there close on 13 and made a great putt at 14. You don't know, you just try and hit every shot to the best of your ability and then all of a sudden you get on a roll and it's fun when that happens.

Q. You're currently in great position, holding a share of the 36-hole lead, but seeing how low the scores have been so far this week, what will be your strategy to kind of hold onto that top spot?

RYAN ARMOUR: I can't change much, I am who I am. I'm going to try and hit fairways, I'm going to try and hit it on the green and give myself as many opportunities as I can. I can't overpower anything out here the way some of the young kids do, so I've just got to go about my way, not their way.

Q. That said, do you feel like that's given you an advantage here on this course given that you do have to be so strategic?

RYAN ARMOUR: Sometimes, some holes. I can push driver on some holes where other guys have to lay back, so it gives me some shorter clubs in. Other guys are afraid to hit driver into the narrowings and I hit driver and end up having wedges in, so that's where it does work out.

Q. Just take us through the four birdies in a row there, 11 through 14.

RYAN ARMOUR: Yeah, 11 was playing really hard, I think we had like 215 hole. Hit 3-iron back into the wind about six feet left of the hole, made it. And then 12, the par 5, hit 3-wood off the tee and then kind of fanned my 3-wood right of the green, had no shot, just kind of took my medicine, hit it 40 feet past the hole and then hooped it. You never count on those, but that was great. And then hit a nice 6-iron in, flighted 6-iron in on 13 about six feet underneath the hole, made that. Then hit driver, sand wedge to about 15 feet on 14 and rolled that in.

Q. Talk a little bit about 135 in the FedExCup, I know you had a couple missed cuts, but playing well at Congaree and then building on that confidence and momentum last week at Barbasol as well.

RYAN ARMOUR: Yeah, I'm trying. Everyone knows where they stand. I mean, I'm just trying to hit every shot the best I can and let -- we'll worry about the points later. I don't feel like I've really had as bad a year as 135 sounds. I missed five or six cuts by a shot, so you're always kind of around that cut line and I just fell on the wrong side of it a few times. That's what kind of gnaws at you because you feel like, man, it's not that bad, so maybe I should be higher, but you've got to go out and get it done and we're just trying our hardest right now.
