

CAMERON CHAMP (-10)

Q. Cameron, how would you assess the round out there that got you back into contention here?

CAMERON CHAMP: I played great. Like I said before, I really hit two bad swings all day, on 14 and 18. And again, it wasn't so much -- it was more so the process more than anything. Again, that's just kind of how I'm trying to approach things, not getting frustrated at results, but getting frustrated at how I'm going into the shots and what I'm thinking and what I'm trying to execute. Besides that, I made some great pars, some good putts, and tomorrow just going to approach it the same way and if I can take advantage of the par 5s, something special could happen.

Q. When did you start thinking more about the process versus the result?

CAMERON CHAMP: You just hit your breaking point and I hit mine about a month and a half, two months ago. Again, just trying to be more so who I am off the course on the course, even though that is difficult because I'm competitive, I want to win, I don't like losing, obviously don't like playing bad, but that's part of it. But it's, again, just more so realizing who I am and then realizing where the issues are stemming from.

Q. The 18th hole today is playing pretty tough. What is making it difficult out there today versus the other two days?

CAMERON CHAMP: That fairway's -- well, for me it's tiny, my landing zone, and obviously the wind's off the right with that tucked pin. If guys are going for it and you get within 10 feet, I really want to see that highlight reel because it's really hard to get it close. But again, it's just a great finishing hole. It's a somewhat tight fairway, a great green depending on where you put the pin and, like I said, tomorrow just take advantage of the par 5s and see what happens.

Q. And then lastly, what things are you looking to improve on to make a run for tomorrow?

CAMERON CHAMP: Nothing really. Like I said, I think just par 5s. I'm only one under this week on the par 5s and that's usually my bread and butter. In fact, tomorrow if I can really take advantage of those like I did today, today could have been something, special. But again, that's golf, that's how it rolls. I think tomorrow, like I said, if I can take advantage of those and kind of just play like how I've been playing, you never know.
