

DAVIS RILEY ( -12)

Q. How's it feel to give yourself another opportunity here on Sunday?

DAVIS RILEY: Yeah, I feel like I've been putting really well this week. I've been hitting it pretty solid for some time and just kind of waiting for that putting to get around and in the last couple months it's kind of done that for me. That's probably why I've been playing so well recently. Everything's kind of clicking, playing solid. As cliché as it sounds, just stay in the moment and take it shot by shot. Everything seems to be going pretty good.

Q. At Valspar when you were right in it down the stretch down to a playoff, what did you think (inaudible)? Did you feel you were able to do that or was there anything you learned from that you would like to apply tomorrow?

DAVIS RILEY: Yeah, sure. During the middle of the round on I believe -- I try to forget it, but I made that triple. Never count yourself out of a tournament. Just stick around, just keep playing, just play golf, and even though if you have a hiccup here or there, that doesn't mean you're out of the tournament.

For me, the biggest takeaway I took is just be me. I don't need to be anybody else and just being me is good enough to compete and win a golf tournament. So that's what I've just been telling myself. I felt like I really turned a page there at the Valspar having a chance to win. You know you can do it until you finally do it and have a chance is another thing and to finally have that good opportunity was pretty cool.

Q. So kind of that in a way gave you the final evidence you needed that you were good enough to win out here?

DAVIS RILEY: Sure, yeah, yeah. No, it was just huge. I always knew I could do it. I felt like my game was good enough to do it and to finally get up there and handle it the way I did was really a big turning point for me, I think. Ever since then I've just been really hungry to get back in contention and have some decent chances and I'm really looking forward to tomorrow.

Q. What was the vibe like with Will last week, getting old roommates back together for Zurich?

DAVIS RILEY: Yeah, it was a super fun format for us. We're super good buddies, we play pretty much all our golf together and it was great. We were just cutting up, having fun, and it was like another day in Dallas and that was really cool. I think that's why I played so well, too. A lot of other people might be kind of worried about messing it up for the other guy and when we messed up really hard, parter, go clean my mess up for me. It was pretty cool and super laid back.

Q. Do you think he'll be following along tomorrow?

DAVIS RILEY: Yeah, yeah. He's a really good friend and anytime one of us is in contention, we're texting each other, telling him that we're rooting for each other. I'm sure he'll be watching and it will be fun.

Q. It's funny, we were talking to Patrick Rodgers. He won on KFT in Bogota, he won on KFT in Panama. What do you remember from that and what can you take away from that?

DAVIS RILEY: Yeah, I'm guessing pretty good mojo in the international tournaments. It will be really cool. The fans out here are awesome. They've got some good crowds and some pretty good energy to feed off. It will be super fun and hopefully I can make a little noise tomorrow.
