RASMUS HØJGAARD

DOUG MILNE: Rasmus, thanks for joining us for a few minutes here at the Puerto Rico Open. Just a few comments about your decision to play here, sponsor exemption this week. Just some thoughts on what led to you being here this week.

RASMUS HOJGAARD: Well, the last couple years I've managed to get a few starts over here at this time of the year. We usually start in the Middle East on the DP World Tour and it gives us a little break after the Middle East swing. Yeah, it was perfect timing to come over here and get a few starts.

DOUG MILNE: Next week, PLAYERS Championship, is that kind of high on your radar, playing well to get in?

RASMUS HOJGAARD: Well, I'm actually -- I hadn't really looked too much into how I can qualify for that event, but my plan is to play this week and then go home, but that can change if I have a really good week.

DOUG MILNE: You're playing really well on DP, I think in five starts you haven't finished worse than 11th place. Just a few comments about how you're feeling about your form coming into the week here.

RASMUS HOJGAARD: Yeah, I think my game is in decent shape. Obviously week was not what I wanted, but the first five events of the year has been very good. Yeah, I'm really looking forward to it.

DOUG MILNE: And just one or two more, as far as card for the Tour, how big of a priority -- maybe not at all, how much are you looking to do that?

RASMUS HOJGAARD: It's definitely my big goal for this year, do well on the DP World Tour and get myself one of those cards so I can come over here and play full time. That's the goal for the year.

DOUG MILNE: Well, I think that is about all we need. You answered everything quick and easy.

RASMUS HOJGAARD: All right.
